Economy in Cigars.

A well known business man walked into a cigar store the other morning and took out two coins. One was a dollar and the other a half dollar. He laid them both down on the case and pointed to a box of imported cigars, saying,
"Give me a dollar's worth of those."
The clerk handed them out and the buyer laid the six that he wanted in a row
along the case.

Then he said to the clerk, "Give me half a dollar's worth of any good five cent cigar." The clerk did as he was bid, and the five centers were laid along in a row also. The gentleman then took the row of imported cigars and cut the ends off of them all. Then he mixed the five centers and the twenty centers
up together and put them all into his capacious vest pockets.

A friend who was standing near and who had watched the operation with a good deal of curiosity, said, "Wherefore?" "Simply this, my boy," replied
the man addressed. "I am in a business
where I have to give away a good many cigars. I am a man who likes a good cigar. I cannot afford to give away the kind of cigars that I smoke myself, so I buy a day's supply and cut the ends off.
Then I buy some cheap ones.

"When it is necessary for me to give away a cigar I pull out a handful and offer one to the person, whoever he may be. He thinks that the ones with the ends cut off I have had in my mouth, and takes one of the cheap ones, whereby I save a good many dollars in the course of a year and also keep myself on good terms with the people to whom it is necessary to give cigars."—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

How to Handle Guns.

Having been asked by friends frequently for advice for their boys in handling guns, I send you a digest of same:

Empty or loaded, never point a gun
toward yourself or any other person.

When a field, carry your gun at the half cock. If in cover, let your hand shield the hammers from whipping twigs.

When riding from one shooting ground to another, or whenever you have your gun in any conveyance, remove the cartridges, if a breach loader, it being so easy to replace them. If a muzzle loader, remove the caps, brush off the nipples and place a wad on each nipple, letting down the hammers on wads—simply removing caps sometimes leaves a little fulminate on the nipple, and a blow on the hammer when down discharges it.

Never draw a gun toward you by the barrel.

More care is necessary in the use of a gun in a boat than elsewhere, the limited space, confined action and uncertain motion making it dangerous at the best. If possible no more than two persons should occupy a boat. Hammerless guns are a constant danger to persons boating.

Always clean your guns thoroughly as soon as you return from a day's sport, no matter how tired you feel. The consequence of its always being ready for service is ample return for the few minutes' irksome labor.—Forest and Stream.

Sugar in Tea or Coffee.

If we drop a lump of sugar into a cup of tea we find that it takes a considerable time to melt if allowed to remain at the bottom of the vessel, but if we hold it up in a spoon near the surface of the liquid it dissolves away much more speedily. This arises from the sugar, as it melts, rendering the portion of the beverage containing it heavier. The sweetened part, therefore, descends,
leaving the sugar constantly in contact with unsweetened or only partially sweetened tea, and, in fact, a continual circulation of fluid is promoted until the whole is dissolved.

When the sugar is placed or permitted to lie at the bottom of the cup, it dissolves until the layer of food next it is thoroughly sweetened or saturated, when it practically ceases to dissolve any further, the sweetened and heavier stratum
above it acting for a considerable time,
until the law of diffusion comes gradually into play, like an impervious covering in keeping back the lighter unsweet-ened fluid above. Hence the reason also why stirring, in breaking up the saturated layer and allowing access to the unsweetened portion, is so effectual in bringing about the uniform sweetening
of tea.—London Tit-Bits.

Mme. Geoffrin's Husband.

Mme. Geoffrin married, at the age of fourteen, M. Geoffrin, a wealthy glass manufacturer and lieutenant colonel of the National Guard. His duty as husband seems to have been to provide the funds for her social campaigns and to watch over the details of the ménage. It is related of him that some person gave him a history to read, and when he asked for the successive volumes, regularly palmed off upon him the first, as if it were new. At last he was heard to say that he thought the author "repeated himself a little."

A book printed in double columns he read straight across the page, remarking that "it seemed to be very good, but was rather abstract." One day a visitor inquired after the silent, white haired old gentleman who was in the habit of sitting at the head of the table. "Oh, he was my husband," replied Mme. Geoffrin,
"before he died."—San Francisco

SLEEP.

When for departed joys we blindly weep,
Or, overborne with toil, are fain for rest,
Comes, with still feet and soft uncluttered
vest,
The pale, sweet angel that the world calls
Sleep.

She doth our eyes with bruis'd poppies steep;
She soothes the wound that rankles in the breast,
Drives sorrow from the heart (unwelcome guest),
And laves us in Lethæan fountains deep.

Gentle is sleep, but fast she binds us all.
Rebuffed, roiled, sure she stands and waits,
'As sure and patient as her sister, Death.
At length the closed lids and even breath Proclaim her conquest. Then, at her soft call,
Glimpses of Eden's glories the ivory gates,

Two New Spoons.

The latest outbreak of the souvenir spoon mania is a "love spoon." The bowl is heart shaped and of bright gold, or, cynical suggestion, of gilt. The handle is a silver arrow, its barbed point piercing the center of the heart and its shaft entwined with forgetmenots. The spoon is intended primarily for an engagement token but it can be inflicted,
in one dozen lots, on a bride, or used as a pledge of affection on any suitable provocation. Another new souvenir freak is the "old oaken bucket" spoon, a "souvenir of childhood." The bowl depicts the bottom of the well, with the bucket floating on the water. The chain runs up through the mouth of the well, at the shoulder of the spoon, and up the handle to an oak tree at the top.—New

AGAIN THAT BLUNDER.

The Trans-Mississippi Congress held at Omaha adopted a resolution in favor of amending the coinage law so as to permit the free coinage of American silver. For some reason Nevada representatives did not vote on this proposition. Commenting on the resolution, the Salt Lake Herald, a firm advocate of free coinage says:

"It would have been better to have said nothing about the subject. Practically the American product is being turned into money. Very nearly all the silver produced in the United States is purchased by the Government for paper dollars, which are worth just as much as gold or silver dollars in any store or bank in the country. If the Omaha congress request were complied with, the silver owners would take their metal to the mint and get coin for it instead of to the Treasury; the only real change would be that the mine owners instead of the Government, would pocket the difference between the bullion price of silver and value of the metal when it has been stamped at the mint. The circulating medium would not be increased. The amount of money held by the people would not be enlarged.

"But the same evil which exists to-day would continue and we are not certain that it would not be intensified. That evil consists of the fact that silver is a depreciated, a discredited metal, made so by legislation. It is discriminated against in favor of gold, and that discrimination would not be removed by coining American silver and refusing to coin other silver. To do this would emphasize by legislative enactment the decree which the goldites have issued, that silver is a product, a commodity like iron, coal or copper, and not a money metal except in a restricted sense.

"There is just one way to deal with this question, and that is to place gold and silver upon an equality so far as relates to coinage and legal tender power. If one metal be given the advantage the other must suffer a corresponding depreciation. One cannot have its value fixed and known both outside and inside the mint, and the other have two values—one as a product and a higher one when it shall be marked with the coin devices. "This question goes further than to the owners of silver mines. It relates to all the people and involves our entire coinage system. It should be treated and adjusted from a broader standpoint than that of a specified section of the country. In short, it should be insisted that silver, wherever produced, is a legitimate money metal, as much so as gold. If this be not done and the adjustment of the 'problem be made on any other basis, no progress will have been made."

TIN PLATE LOSSES.

The tin plate liar is still seeking what he may devour. The other day a dispatch appeared in a local contemporary stating that a meeting of persons interested in the business, called by Congressman Bunting, the Democratic Representative from the Thirty-third New York District, had opposed any change in the tin plate duty. The implication, of course, was that Mr. Bunting would be a disturbing element in the Democratic majority in Congress next Winter. It happens, however, that he is one of the most ardent opponents of the McKinley tin plate job. He took a leading part last week in the organization of the Tin Plate Consumers' Association, whose object is to make the truth on the subject known, and at the opening he delivered an address in which he said that a confidence game had been played which could be corrected only by the repeal of the duty by the next Congress.

Mr. Bunting furnished some interesting figures connected with tin plates. He showed that in the nine months between the passage of the McKinley bill and the enforcement of the new duty, speculators had cleared $5,000,000 by anticipating the tax. He stated that the canning industry, which was to be taxed $8,000,000 a year, counted almost 2,000 establishments, and gave employment directly, or indirectly, to nearly 2,000,000 people. (The total number of men that the American tin plate factories even promise to employ—and promises are very different from realities—does not exceed 3,000.)

Mr. Bunting estimates that the increased cost to consumers of canned goods through the new duty, is enough to pay 12,000 workmen wages of $400 a year apiece, with $200,000 left over. But for the tax the canner could pay the farmers and fruit growers 25 per cent. more for their products and still sell them at their old price.

The home consumers of canned meats paid $1,325,750 last year in taxes on the tin plates in cans. This would have paid for 61,387 more head of cattle at $20 per head, which would have required over a million more acres of land for grazing. The increase in stock-raising, packing and marketing, would have given employment to about 20,000 persons, or about the number supported by the tin plate industry in the whole world.—Exchange.

The will of Governor S. J. Tilden of New York, who died several years ago, has been declared void by the Court of Appeals. The estate is valued at $8,000,000.

Murder and Suicide. Special to the Journal.

LOS ANGELES, October 28.—G. J. Griffiths, a prominent capitalist and owner of the Los Feliz rancho was shot near the Catholic cemetery this evening by a man named Burkett, who almost immediately committed suicide by shooting himself through the head.

Mr. Griffiths and his wife had gone to the Catholic cemetery. The latter was at her mother's grave strewing it with flowers. Mr. Griffiths sat in a buggy near the sexton's house. Burkett came up from the rear and he had evidently followed the couple, knowing that the cemetery was their destination.

Without warning the man fired the contents of one barrel of a shot gun at Mr. Griffiths, several shots striking him in the back of the head, and one or two striking his right temple. Mr. Griffiths fell forward and out of the buggy. Recovering from the shock he got up and started to run around the house, when another shot was fired, the charge entering his back. Griffiths is painfully but not dangerously wounded and will recover. The gun was loaded with small bird shot, to which fact he owes his life.

In speaking of the shooting Mr. Griffiths said that some time ago Burkett sued him for $15,000, alleging that he had slandered him (Burkett), and interfered in the sale of the Los Feliz rancho to an English syndicate. Burkett had bonded the property and lived on it for some time. The case went against Burkett. It was appealed to the Supreme Court and again decided in Mr. Griffiths' favor.

Papers found on Burkett's person indicate that the deed was premeditated.

A Disgraceful State of Affairs in a Hospital.

Special to the Journal.

DUBLIN, October 28.—Startling testimony was given to-day at the trial of Rev. Samuel Cotton, Rector of Carnagh, County Kildare, charged with criminal neglect and ill treatment of children in the Carnagh Orphanage. Cotton has conducted the affairs of the Orphanage many years, and received large sums of money. The Children's Society, during the investigation, found the children emaciated, filthy and in a ragged condition and covered with parasites. The toes of one, it was testified to, had rotted off. Another, a girl, had been chained by her legs to a log. The rooms of the Orphanage were found in the filthiest possible condition. In the kitchen was found a baby six weeks old covered with dirty rags and dying of cold and inanition. The other children in the same apartment were crouched around a small fire, almost frozen and half starved. All were weak and sickly and their growth stunted by the treatment received under Cotton's management. The sanitary condition of the whole establishment is horrible. Some of the beds used by the unfortunate children are merely old boxes and packing cases filled with stale hay. It was also shown that all the children are kept in a perpetual state of terror by Cotton, and it would be difficult to imagine a more deplorable or blamable state of things. Cotton was committed for trial.

Huntington Writes to the Grand Jury.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 28.—Some weeks ago the Hon. Jeremiah Lynch wrote in the name of the Grand Jury to C. P. Huntington, President of the Southern Pacific Company, inquiring whether it was by his direction that Creed Haymond, chief counsel for the Southern Pacific, was acting as attorney for Stephen T. Gage and Richard Chute, recalcitrant witnesses. Huntington replied at great length to-day. He stated that he was not responsible for Haymond's appearance for Gage and Chute, and that Haymond retained the right to appear in private cases where the interests of the railroad were not involved. He stated further that the books of the Southern Pacific were open to the Grand Jury at any time, in spite of the great inconvenience it would cause, and that he had sent a letter to A. N. Towne, General Manager, requesting him to assist the Grand Jury in all possible ways. He wanted the road taken out of politics, and would continue his efforts to that end. He closed by stating that if the officials of the road attended to their duties as they should they would have no time to meddle in politics.

Opposed to Cardinal Gibbons.

Special to the Journal.

ROME, October 28.—An article from the pen of Signor Cesari in one of the liberal organs made a stir in ecclesiastical circles. He contends that Austria, in the name of the triple alliance, ought to dominate the future conclave, and procure the election of a Pope amenable to the suggestions of the triple alliance. He vigorously opposes the idea of Cardinal Gibbons' candidacy, declaring, among other things, that under Gibbons the church would cease to be "Roman." This attack on the American Cardinal is regarded by the Vatican as an expression of the fear of the liberals that Gibbons might be elected at the next conclave. The article, however, will have but little effect and Gibbons' chances are considered good.

An Earthquake Causes Great Loss of Life.

Special to the Journal.

LONDON, October 28.—Higo is a seaport town of Japan on the island of Honshu, situated about 22 miles by rail from Osaka. Higo has an extensive foreign and coast-wise trade and has a population of about 40,000 souls. Osaka is also on the island of Honshu, and has a large foreign trade, arsenals, a great castle, machine shops, city hall, mint, college and academy, and is traversed by canals over which are more than 1,100 bridges. In point of size it is the third or fourth city in Japan, but in social affairs, commerce and industry it takes first rank. Osaka has a population of 350,000. A private telegram dated Higo, received here to-night, says a severe shock of earthquake was experienced at Osaka and the destruction of both life and property was very great. So severe was the shock that a number of houses were thrown to the ground and many occupants caught in the falling buildings and crushed to death. A large number of persons succeeded in escaping from their homes only to meet death in the streets. There is no means at present of estimating the total loss of life, in fact, details are very meagre. All telegraph wires are broken in the district, effected by falling poles. Private dispatches, however, state that it is known that in Osaka alone the death list contains the names of 300 residents of that city.

Chili Refuses to Give Reparation.

Special to the Journal.

SANTIAGO, Chili, October 28.—Bulletin—Chili refused to accede to the demands of the United States.

The Chilean Government has replied to Minister Egan's demand for an explanation of the recent attack upon American sailors. The reply is couched in very strong language and it is understood that it amounts to a refusal to accept the responsibility for the affair.

The State Department at Washington has been notified. Minister Egan, Commander Schley and Consul McCreery are consulting together and it is thought decisive action will be taken soon.

The State Department's orders in reference to the matter are very strong. The intendente of Valparaiso has refused to guarantee the safety of market boats coming to that city early in the morning, from the United States war ship Baltimore, or the safety of the officers of that vessel on coming ashore at night. There is a practical boycott on the Baltimore. No American sailors are allowed ashore.

Great excitement has been caused here by a report that the Chilean legation in Washington has been attacked.

Criminally Negligent Trustees.

Special to the Journal.

PITTSBURGH, October 28.—A Uniontown, Pa., special says: "Residents of Fayette county are greatly stirred up over the discovery that patients in the Connelleville hospital are lying there helpless, without a spark of fire in the building and suffering untold agonies. Miss Gaddy, the Superintendent, says she cannot help it as the committee of trustees is responsible for the heating apparatus and it has never been in a fix for use since last Spring. Deputy Sheriff Crawford visited the hospital on business yesterday and found one patient lying at the point of death from pneumonia contracted after coming to the hospital, his physician says, because there is no fire in the building. The only fire in the building is in the kitchen where water is heated and placed in gum heaters which are placed in the beds of the patients, but they are totally inadequate."

THE LATE WILLIAM HENRY SMITH.

Leader of the English House of Commons.

Political friend and foe alike deplore the death of William Henry Smith, a modest and capable statesman, who was a prominent member of the present Salisbury administration from its beginning. He was the son of a man who began his business career as a vendor of newspapers at a railway stall. At the death of his father he succeeded him in the control of a large news and book business, and in the course of a life which was not prolonged he made enormous wealth and considerable fame as a statesman of sound capacity. He was manly and genial and commanded universal respect.

Mr. Smith was born in London in 1825. In 1863 he was blackballed as a candidate for membership in the Reform Club, this want of appreciation in its members being due, it is said, to his being in trade. Two years after he was defeated as a candidate for the House of Commons. In 1868 he defeated John Stuart Mill, standing for Westminster, and was numbered among the Commons from that date until his death. Mr. Smith was made Secretary of the Treasury by Mr. Disraeli in 1874, and in 1877 succeeded Ward Hunt as First Lord of the Admiralty. In this office he was regarded as the prototype of Sir Joseph Porter, K. O. B., one of the characters in Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore," which popular composition was named after one of his yachts. When Lord Salisbury became Prime Minister in 1885 Mr. Smith accepted the portfolio of Secretary of State for War. The following year he became Chief Secretary for Ireland. In the present Salisbury administration he was successively head of the War Department, and First Lord of the Treasury and leader of the House of Commons. His highest social distinction was that of Lord Warden of the Cinque Ports, in which he succeeded Earl Granville.

A Fever-Ridden Town.

Much sickness among children prevails on the Comstock at the present time, the principal disease being scarlet fever. There are probably thirty cases of the disease, which is generally of a mild form. A case of diphtheria is reported on the Divide, though it is not of a malignant type. The doctors state that the present siege of fever is almost epidemic, and although not considered particularly dangerous, precautions should be taken to prevent its spread. Were we to attempt to enumerate the families at present afflicted it would almost be an endless task.—Chronicle.

A car-load of machinery arrived yesterday for the Reno Reduction Works.

Whenever you find a man who says that honesty doesn't pay, it is a sign that he has never tried it.
A rich strike has been made two miles from Redding. The ledge was encountered and the ore is fabulously rich. Quite an excitement prevails over the strike.
Earl Lewis of San Francisco, aged two years, was accidentally shot in the head and killed by an air gun, with which two older boys were playing last Friday.
Sheriff Coughlin returned yesterday morning from Livermore, Cal., bringing with him Chas. Bush, one of the forgers who escaped from jail about six weeks ago.
Do not fail to attend the A. O. U. W. ball October 30th. If you cannot dance go and hear the new music by Fredrick's orchestra. Grand march at 9 o'clock sharp.
Thousands of bushels of peaches and apples are being fed to the hogs along the Snake river fruit belt in Oregon, and all because the fruit raisers are not prepared to take care of the crop as it comes on.
Charles W. Slack, professor of law at Hastings' Law College, was appointed yesterday by Governor Markham to the judgeship left vacant by the death of Joseph Hoge. Judge Slack was formerly a resident of Nevada.
The Empire State Express train made the fastest time ever made on Monday between New York and Buffalo, having run the distance, 440 miles, in eight hours, and thirty-nine and a half minutes, an average of 53 1/2 miles an hour.
It is not thought probable, now, that there will be any tower at the World's Fair. The projectors of the most promising tower scheme abandoned it when they found that they would have to take down their tower when the Exposition closed, because the Park Commissioners refused to grant any subsequent use of a site.
Earl Stivers, the two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Stivers of Virginia, died night before last of scarlet fever, after having been sick but a few days. Grace, the four-year-old daughter of the family, is down with the same disease, but hopes of her recovery are entertained.
The boy arrested for robbing the Redding and Weaverville stage last Monday night has made a full confession. He took the officers to where Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box was hidden and where the gun was thrown into the river. The box was found about a mile from the scene of the robbery with the waybills and letters untouched.
SUGAR BEET INDUSTRY.
Nevada Soil Adapted to the Cultivation of the Sugar Beet.
Carson Appeal: There is talk of starting beet sugar factories in Nevada. For some time past the Spreckles have been investigating the proposition with a view of establishing a plant here.
R. H. McDowell, of the Nevada Experiment Station, has been among the farmers of Carson and Mason Valleys, and reports everything very favorable for the culture of beets for sugar.
The Spreckles are willing to put up a plant provided they can be assured of the product of at least 2,000 acres of beets, averaging 14 per cent. sugar. Mr. McDowell found that most of the beets he sampled averaged as high as 16 to 18, and some 21 per cent. beet sugar.
The chemist who analyzed Nevada beets for the Spreckles Brothers, reported that they gave the finest quality of sugar he had ever seen.
Farmers can clear $25 or $30 an acre by beet culture.
There is a Nebraska firm which offers to erect a factory here for a bonus of $150,000, the same as a small county in Nebraska paid there.
Such an establishment in this State would be of immense benefit and be a lasting one. The alkali soil is very kindly to beets and in many parts of the State beets would need no irrigation.
The Clarendon Hotel Restaurant is, since Mr. Wildack assumed management of the same, run in first-class style. None but respectable help employed. Everybody speaks about it and says: "What a change." Commercial men say they can get as good a meal there, since it changed hands, as can be had in San Francisco.

Lottery and Prize Schemes Used to Sell Alumina and Ammonia Baking Powders.
A New York concern, manufacturers of an ammonia baking powder, boasts that its yearly profits are over a million dollars. While, perhaps, none of the makers of alum powders individually can show so large earnings, yet their profits are enormous.
A business so profitable will always attract to itself those whose greed will cause them to utterly disregard the effect their traffic may have upon the health or life of others.
Alumina baking powders are introduced largely by gifts, prizes and lottery schemes. A piece of glassware or china, a child's wagon, sled, a pewter spoon or some other article of attractive appearance, but of small intrinsic value or cost is given with each purchase, or a number is attached to the can which entitles the customer to a similarly numbered article or to a prize of some kind. It is in some such way as this that the trade in alum and ammonia baking powders, which has now attained such giant proportions and their consumption by the public which has reached an extent which is truly alarming.
The highest authorities of all countries condemn the use of alum in bread without reserve. In America the most distinguished physicians, chemists and hygienists have declared that the traffic in alum baking powders should be suppressed by law. In England and France, where the subject of pure food and its effect upon the system has been more fully considered and made the subject of extended experiments by the scientists, so serious a matter is the use of alum in bread or other food considered to be, that most stringent laws have been enacted to prevent it. These laws are rigidly enforced, and the sale of alum baking powders would not be permitted for an hour. Any one who attempted to make them for use in food or attempted to use them for raising bread, biscuit or cake would suffer severe penalties.
The ill effects upon the system of food raised by alum baking powders are the more dangerous because of their insidious character. It would be less dangerous to the community were it fatal at once, for then such food would be avoided; but their deleterious action because imperceptible at first is no less certain.
The puckering effect which alum has when taken in the mouth is familiar to every one. Physicians say this same effect is produced by it upon the delicate coats of the stomach and intestines.
What housewife would take home to her family a can of alum or ammonia baking powder if she knew it. Such powders not only undermine the system, but it is pointed out that ammonia taken into the system in even infinitesimal doses day after day imparts to the complexion a sallow and blotched appearance.
It is safe to discard all baking powders sold with a prize or gift.
What a misnomer are the words "absolutely pure," as applied to baking powders. Two of the largest selling brands, one made from alum, the other containing ammonia and both of these dragged baking powders have stamped upon their labels and circulars these words, absolutely pure. As a matter of fact they are "absolutely poor," as shown by official examinations.
NEVADA WHEAT AND FLOUR.
The Best Home Industry in the State.
Flour, from which bread, the "staff of life," is made, is a grand desideratum in any community, and here in Nevada it is a special consideration in domestic economy and home production.
Why is it that any citizen and taxpayer will persist in buying flour from California when just as good or better can be bought right here, which is made from wheat raised in Nevada and milled in Nevada?
Why is it that our own wheat raisers market any portion of their crop in California and buy it back from there in the form of California flour? Do they get it any cheaper? No, they do not. Is it any better? No, it is not; otherwise their wheat would not find a market in California.
Then why should we not keep our wheat at home, mill it at home, and to the utmost extent unanimously patronize a chief home industry?
The Riverside Mills at Reno, run by Truckee river water power, furnish better flour than is to be found in California or on the Pacific Coast. And it is all from Nevada. Farmers sell their wheat there to better advantage than by shipping it to California.
All that is wanted is the full home market for the flour, and in that every citizen, taxpayer, and the farmers themselves should cordially join in the name of home interest and in the prosperity of home rule.
Three-fourths of the flour used by the several bakeries on the Comstock is manufactured at the Riverside Mills from Nevada wheat, furnishing to their customers as good bread as is to be found in the world, and there is no reason why every family should not do the same. Let the people generally call for Nevada flour from Nevada wheat, and the merchants with whom they deal will furnish it. And our merchants themselves should recommend its preference to any other.
Thus we can have a home market for all our own wheat and flour, keep our money at home, and the best of flour can be furnished at fully as cheap rates or a shade cheaper than that from abroad. The better the market the more liberal rates can be afforded.—Enterprise.

LOW GRADE ORES.
Ten Per Cent. Dividends From Ore Assaying $3.00 Per Ton.
The Enterprise says the statements recently published in the Deadwood Pioneer by the Homestake and Deadwood-Terra Mining Companies have opened the eyes of mining men. They show that for the past year the Homestake ore has only run $3.00 a ton, while the Deadwood-Terra goes $4.40, yet the former has paid ten-cent dividends every month and has a surplus of $120,000, while the latter has piled up a surplus of $300,000, and is paying five-cent dividends every month. The success of these mines in making low-grade ore pay has stimulated others, and a movement is now on foot, backed by the leading men of the Black Hills, to erect an immense custom mill at some point that is reached by railroad connections, and can furnish sufficient water power to run the mill.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials. Address, F. J. Free Water.
Parties in Reno having good wells or a place for one are throwing away money in paying water rates, when by a small investment plenty of pure water is at their command free of cost. One good well will supply water for several families, who by joining in the expense of erecting a windmill, tank, etc., can not only effect a saving in expenses, but be independent of a monopolizing water service. A visit to the Water Company's reservoir and ditch at times will convince the most skeptical that well water is the doctor's enemy, while surface water is the direct agent in bringing business to his office.
Constant pumping insures pure water from all good wells, hence the quality of well water cannot be judged properly from only occasional pumpings. Many unused wells would furnish plenty of pure, clear water if properly pumped.
Can you afford a pumping plant of your own? We will answer for you, Yes.
We are prepared to take contracts this Winter to erect any sized wind-mill plant required, with proper tank and service connection, furnishing them on a monthly installment plan, warranting all work and taking proper care of all mills so erected.
Plans and specifications free upon application. anti-freezing pumps and protected pipes insure equally as good Winter service as in Summer. For further particulars call on
